13-Year-Old Girl Will Give Music Recital Here

NEWMARKET WILL HEAR RECITAL BEFORE TORONTO

Newmarket will have the unusual experience on Monday evening of hearing a Toronto music program before Toronto has heard it.

Miss Marion Grudeff, 13-year-old piano virtuoso, will give the same program at Pickering College on Monday that she will give in Eaton auditorium on Dec. 4 in the "Manifesto series."

Miss Grudeff is recognized as one of the most talented of the younger musicians of Toronto. She is a pupil of Miss Mona

C. R. BLACKSTOCK WILL BE SPEAKER AT MEETING

The regular meeting of the Home and School Association will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 8 p.m., at the Stuart Scott school. The speaker will be C. R. Blackstock, director of physical education at Pickering college, who will speak on "Health practices and physical education in elementary schools."

Bates, Clifford Poole and Gordon Hallett, two-piano team, opened the music program at Pickering with a delightful evening's entertainment last month.

Relief Recipients Refuse To Take Old Age Pensions

RELIEF INSPECTOR COM-MENDED TO COUNCIL FOR HIS WORK

There were only 43 persons on relief in the month of October compared with 99 in October, 1939, Councillor A. V. Higginson, chairman of the relief committee, stated at a town council meeting last Friday evening.

The cost last year for the month was $652 and this year was $419.91.

"The relief inspector (Chief Constable James Sloss) has done wonderful work," declared Mr. Higginson. "He has obtained old age pensions for some. And he is doing the work of his own initiative. I hope he gets some help. He works as much as 16 hours a day."

"It seems now that a person on relief, who is eligible for an old age pension, must accept a pension," he stated further. "Some have refused to accept a pension because the relief is more than the pension, but they must accept it."

"Does the same apply to mother's allowance?" asked Councillor J. L. Spillette.

"Yes, but the trouble is to establish eligibility for mother's allowance," replied Reeve Fred A. Lundy.

RED CROSS STILL NEEDS YOUR HELP

Newmarket Red Cross is still $135 short of its $1,000 objective. The Era learned this week from H. E. Lambert, appeal chairman. Mr. Lambert has delayed closing his books in the hope that the objective might still be achieved. There are 237 of last year's contributors who haven't contributed this year. Mr. Lambert found in comparing the two campaigns. There was also quite a dwindling in the size of many of the gifts. The gifts of 15 contributors totalled $315 less this year than last.

On the other hand there were some increased contributions and many new contributors this year.

FINANCES WERE MUCH SIMPLER 80 YEARS AGO

MANY NAMES OF 1862 ARE STILL REPRESENTED IN TOWN

DEFICIT WAS $2,851.2

With the town of Newmarket this week publishing its annual financial statement, Frank Stickland, 4 Cotter St., brought to The Era a printed copy of the "Newmarket Village Accounts" for 1862.

It was signed and certified by the auditors, S. Arthur Marling and M. W. Bogart, and by the reeve, A. Boulbee. It was "printed at the Newmarket Era office, Main St., E. Jackson, proprietor."

On the receipts side of the statement the following each paid a shop license fee of $32: James Nixon, E. Barringer, A. Henderson, Ingham Sharpe, T. A. Harton, John Bentley, John Maloney, W. G. Taylor. The following paid tavern licenses of $45 each: Margaret Forsyth, Charles Brelsford, W. L. Knight, Guysbert Bell, John Sharen.

C. B. Hutchcroft was the tax collector, and turned over to the village $64 in statute labor tax and $792.34 collected through the village rate.

An entry indicates that T. Pyne had been the reeve in the previous year.

On the expense side one item is a government grant of $109 paid to Robert Alexander, teacher. Total school expenditures were $852.36, made up of the government grant, $243.36 from the Clergy Reserve fund and $509 from a village school rate.

Road, bridges and sidewalks expenses amounted to $706.30. This money was paid to the following: A. Coryell, T. Botsford, Abram Taylor, M. Cain, T. Nelson, J. Maguire, Dennis Hurley, J. Kenney, Jesse Srigley, Thomas Kane, Patrick Naylor, Thomas Maguire, James Hanlon, Sylvester Barry, J. Windover, Enoch Srigley, J. O'Neil, Stephen Mahoney, Joseph Paul, J. Cunningham, J. Campbell, J. Haskett, J. Barry, George Haskett, David Haskett, Michael Tully, Lawrence Boland, Samuel Ralph, Miles Cain, Thomas Rowen, John Faughnan, William McMaster (nails), Joseph Wood (horse and cart).

Under salaries the following names appeared: C. D. Hill, poll clerk ($3); G. B. Hutchcroft, collector; Eli G. Irwin, assessor ($15); E. P. Irwin, clerk and treasurer ($50); Nelson Gorham and S. A. Marling, auditors.

Lawrence Boland received $36 a year for "ringing village bell," Margaret Forsyth received $24 for rent of council chamber, and E. Jackson received $40.40 for printing and stationery for corporation.

The statement showed a balance of $2,851.2 owing to the treasurer.

PIGS ARE PROFITS AND PATRIOTS

Here is a little story picked up this week from Dr. J. H. Wesley. "Every man should have a hobby, or, as they say, an avocation," said Dr. Wesley. "Jimmie Miller, who lives on Huron St., has been a regular employee of the Davis Leather Co. for many years."

"This is his vocation but his hobby is raising pigs. He has a five-acre plot of ground, a cow or two, a pig or two (generally two), besides a large bunch of first-class White Leghorn hens. They must be a fine bunch, for every night, at the present time when eggs are scarce and high in price, he brings in from 75 to 80, with many of them double-yoked ones."

"But what about the pigs I started out to tell you about. The two he has been specializing on for the last five and a half months weighed exactly 430 lbs. and he sold them to help supply the English market with bacon and win the war. At this rate of growing there is lots of money in hogs but it is not every person can do it."

INJURED IN FALL FROM HORSE ON HOLT FARM

Aubrey Rutledge, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rutledge, Holt, received a serious head injury when he fell or was thrown from a horse on their farm yesterday.

He was unconscious when found and has since been in a semi-conscious state. A concussion is feared. He is 15 years old.

Mayor Urges Joe Vale As Successor To Crown

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd has given The Era the following statement for publication:

Democracy, although a good form of government, has many weaknesses. The average citizen wants everything, including a low tax rate. Unless we are willing to deny ourselves and do without many things it would be nice to have but which are not absolutely necessary, a low tax rate is impossible.

I still think we could get along with an election every second year while we have a war on our hands. Of course the papers would lose the printing. That would be a contribution they could make towards winning the war.

If all the smaller municipalities in Ontario were to forego an election for one year only, the saving of the people's time and money from several hundred municipalities would be a considerable amount.

We are right now fighting for our lives. We should save every hour of time and every dollar possible and get on with the war.

I am at present enjoying good health, although often weary from lack of rest and leisure. Next month I will have completed seven years of service as mayor. The work gets heavier every year. I feel that the work as well as the honor which goes with the position of mayor should be passed around.

The business of the town is now in good shape and running smoothly.

By reason of the fact that I suggested we try to secure a military camp for Newmarket and then with the help of a very smart and efficient council was able to secure the camp has made a big difference to the town financially.

Many of the citizens have been able to pay their taxes and lay in some coal for the winter with the money they made working at the camp.

The revenue we will receive from the sale of water and light to the camp will pay for the outlay we had to make, viz:

- (1) Laying a six inch main from the Srigley St. well to the edge of the camp property.
- (2) Installing heavy wire to carry electricity from the power house to the edge of the camp property.
- (3) Laying a trunk sewer from the edge of the camp property to the nearest main.
- (4) Improving the road to and from the camp.

It is estimated by the department of militia and defence that soldiers spend over 50 per cent of their pay in the vicinity where the camp is situated. When the camp is running full, there are over 1,200 men, so calculating at the lowest wage received, i.e., $1.30 per day, you have 1,200 men spending 65c = $780 per day, which would equal the pay-roll of a good-sized factory.

The good results are showing already in that almost all available houses in town are rented.

I gave the citizens of Newmarket real good advice during the past two years when I urged them to secure a house for themselves, either to get an old one and fix it up, or build a new one on lots which could be secured for almost nothing.

I am mayor until the end of the year so it is still my privilege to give leadership and advice. If you want a good mayor to follow in my place, elect Joseph Vale. This is a young man's age. Joe has all the qualities necessary. He is well educated. He has had experience in both town and county council. He has been with me for the past five years and could carry on the work without a hitch. He has the same ideas of efficiency with economy which I have practised during my term of office.

Again I wish to thank my friends and supporters, especially those who always gave me the smile and the word of encouragement. To the members of the council for their co-operation, which facilitated the speedy transaction of business, I am grateful. Mr. Matthews was always ready to drop his own business and assist me with town business whenever necessary. Altogether I enjoyed my seven year term as mayor of Newmarket, the finest town to live in in Canada.

MOVE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cantillon have recently moved from Toronto to Newmarket. Mr. Cantillon is at the camp canteen.

HISTORIC PLACES ARE VIEWED IN TRAVELOGUE

Dr. and Mrs. Williams of Toronto gave a travelogue in St. Paul's parish hall on Tuesday evening, the illustrated pictures all being in technicolor. Dr. Williams has six in the series, "Canada marches on," and the one on Tuesday evening was entitled "On the rim of the Arctic." With his color camera, the doctor started up Yonge St., and showed several photos of highway No. 11 between here and Toronto, the anchor at Holland Landing, the 50-foot cross that marks the spot in the Georgian Bay at Penetanguishene, where Champlain landed coming from the north, from there on up north to James Bay by train, by motor, by boat, and canoe, right up to the rim of the Arctic.

It was a delightful and instructive evening and those who saw and heard Dr. and Mrs. Williams last Tuesday evening will gladly welcome a return visit.

CHAIRMAN DISAPPROVES OF LATE SEWER CONNECTIONS

"There should be a dead-line in the fall for sewer connections," Councillor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridge committee stated at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

ASK FOR NAMES OF SILVER CROSS MOTHERS

The next monthly meeting of the Newmarket Veterans' Association will be held on Thursday, Nov. 28, at the R.S.A. bugle band hall at 8 p.m. sharp. All veterans are requested to be in attendance.

The executive would appreciate very much if all silver cross mothers of Newmarket would send their names and addresses to President Floyd Mabey, or Secretary Sid Brice, as soon as possible.

COUNCIL MEETS DEC. 9

The next meeting of Newmarket town council will be held on Monday, Dec. 9, it was decided at a council meeting on Friday evening. The meeting Friday evening was a statutory one to pass accounts prior to the election. The present council continues in office until the end of the year.

WORKMAN DIES TODAY FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Injured in a construction accident at the military camp last week, Wm. Young, Markham, died in York county hospital today.

He was progressing favorably, following an operation by a Toronto brain specialist, but suffered a relapse on Tuesday.

A plank fell on his head while he was working on the construction of the drill hall.

COUNTRY BOYS WILL DOMINATE COMING 1,000

A full thousand men are expected to arrive here tomorrow for training at the military camp. There were something over 900 men at the first camp.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, has announced that there will be two more 30-day camps, and that the next camp will be for four months.

The boys who arrive tomorrow will be only 20 per cent from Toronto, compared to 60 per cent from Toronto in the first camp. The rest will come from Simcoe, Ontario, York and Grey counties.

It is not known definitely, but it is thought that the boys coming in this time may include the farm boys.

MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY PASSES ON

The brave and unselfish life through many years of illness and suffering of Miss Hannella Millard came to a conclusion at her home, 54 Botsford St., on Sunday.

Funeral services took place on Tuesday, with interment at Newmarket cemetery. Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells was in charge, with W. J. Patterson, J. J. McCaffrey, W. H. Helmer and B. W. Hunter acting as pallbearers.

One of six sisters, one of whom died in infancy, she leaves three sisters, Gertrude and Saida, who took care of her during her long illness, and Mrs. George Anderson (Mary), Calgary. Another sister, Mrs. P. W. Pearson (Carlotta), died a few years ago.

The youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Millard, she was born in Newmarket and educated at Newmarket high school and at a business school in Toronto. For some years she was in the office of the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co. After a period of illness she worked for some years in the town clerk's office, until forced by ill-health to give up.

She has been an invalid for 29 years and confined to her home for the last 19 years. She was a patient sufferer and it was said of her by those who knew her best that "her life was a benediction."

She belonged to Trinity United church. Miss Millard was a member of one of Newmarket's pioneer families. Her grandfather was Joseph Millard, who opened up Millard Ave., Joseph St., Lorne Ave. and Park Ave. west of Lorne.

Among those from Toronto who attended the service at the residence on Tuesday were Mrs. J. N. Middleton, Mrs. J. O'Malley, Mrs. Miller Lash, Mrs. McCaig, Miss Ada Lehman, Miss Meeda Lehman and Miss Geraldine Millard.

CALF CLUB BOYS WIN O.A.C. SHORT COURSES

During the past season a boys' calf club was organized in and about this vicinity, known as the Newmarket calf club. This club work was carried through to a finish and has been a splendid training for the young members, who will soon be the leaders in the agricultural industry.

This year the achievement day was held at Sharon, with E. A. Innes, agricultural representative for Ontario county, as judge. Prizes were awarded by the Kiwanis Club of Toronto, York County Junior Farmers and the provincial and dominion departments of agriculture. A total of 16 boys completed this work. The two high men at the achievement day were Ivan Fairbank of Sharon and Jas. Harrison of Mount Albert and each won a $10 scholarship, donated by the Kiwanis Club, to the short courses in agriculture held at the O. A. C. in early January.

A team composed of the two high men in the judging competition and in the examination represented this club at the boys' and girls' contests at the O. A. C. Guelph, on Oct. 25. These boys were Robt. Pollock of Keswick and Ivan Fairbank of Sharon and they stood 15th among a total of 35 teams.

Christmas Displays Begin To Appear In Newmarket Stores

BETTER BUSINESS CONDITIONS CHEER MERCHANTS, HELP PUBLIC

Newmarket stores are open every Wednesday afternoon now, and Christmas shopping has begun. Many of the merchants have begun to decorate their stores for Christmas, and to display their special Christmas merchandise.

In the course of a visit to Main St. stores this week an Era representative found the merchants enjoying improved business conditions, which they attributed directly or indirectly to the establishment of the training camp here.

They were looking forward to a good Christmas trade and have made preparations to give the public an extra wide selection of the finest merchandise. Uncertain production conditions

(Editor's Note:—Santa Claus lives in Newmarket! Do your Christmas shopping here! It will pay you to do your shopping locally. It helps you. It helps your community. Town people will have a happier Christmas if they patronize their own stores. Country people will find it pays to patronize their neighborhood stores and their town stores, for good values, friendly service, and good citizenship.)

WHAT WE THINK

MR. GOOD CITIZEN

Nominations for council take place in several of the northern York county municipalities on Friday. Councillors give an account of their activities during the past year and the municipal treasurers present to the public a financial statement. Interested citizens will turn out to praise or to criticize, as they see fit.

In Newmarket, with whose municipal affairs we are most familiar, the citizens can find a good deal to praise. During the year the elected councillors have given two nights a month for the formal meetings of council, and most of them have given a good deal more time than that to committee meetings. In addition, the mayor, reeve, deputy-reeve, and the chairmen of committees come in for almost daily duties. They have worked effectively in the interests of the town.

Two councillors have announced their intention of dropping out this year, Councillors Mungovan and Spillette. Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd is also dropping out this year. It will be in the interests of the town if there are sufficient candidates for the vacancies to cause a contest. The members of the council themselves will welcome a vote, as an indication to them of how they stand with the public, and because they all love a contest. The public will go to the polls anyway on Monday, Dec. 2, to decide the question of a one or a two-year term, and they too would enjoy taking a small part in a municipal contest. Interest in Newmarket's municipal affairs is active and sufficient candidates may well come forward in the next few days to assure competition.

Mr. Good Citizen will look around and urge suitable neighbors to offer to serve. Both men and women are eligible to sit in the council.

CANADA JOINS THE AMERICAS

Appointment by the dominion government of ministers to two of the larger South American countries is a step forward, and perhaps presages Canada's entry into the pan-American conference. There has been a chair there for this dominion for many years, but it has been unoccupied as a result of knee-high ideas about Canada's membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations. Ironically, it is found now in time of war that closer Canadian relations with the United States, Mexico and South American countries is an imperative need, and Canada begins to seek friendship in South America as part of British Commonwealth war policy.

A CHAMPION OF DEMOCRACY

Agnes Macphail, M. P., who in her years in parliament did more for Canadian social thinking than is generally realized, has an able successor in Mrs. Dorise Nielsen, western C. C. F. member. Mrs. Nielsen is just as loyal as any Canadian, but she believes that Canadian democracy's first battle-line is in Canada. In a speech in parliament this week she acknowledged the debt of Canadians generally to Canadians in active service, but she stressed the necessity of maintaining liberty at home. In time of war a lot of officious people with a flair for fascism get a chance to put their ideas into effect. People can be arrested in Canada at the present time and be held without reason given and without trial, on the spur of a policeman's idle moment, or at the bidding of some half-cock attorney-general.

Members of parliament cried shame when Mrs. Nielsen told how during the parliamentary recess police went from door to door in her riding asking for printed copies of her parliamentary speeches and creating unnecessary suspicion. They confiscated copies given to them, but they did not come to her direct for copies. In her "poverty is subversive" speeches, Mrs. Nielsen said, she had said just what is being said in printed matter by those who are now sponsoring Toronto's federated charities campaign.

It is well to remember that when there is no one to protest against small infringements on liberties, there is no one to protest against major infringements. The law that is unfair to communist, fascist, or spy can be just as easily turned against the loyal and innocent citizen tomorrow.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

MR. KING'S GREAT ADDRESS

(The Toronto Star)

There are at present very few great speakers among the public men of Canada; none with the pure eloquence of Laurier or the command of metaphor which distinguished Sir George Foster. Mr. Meighen is perhaps the keenest swordsman now. But among all Premier King's contemporaries, there is not one who, in a set speech, rises to such heights of noble thought, nobly expressed, as Mr. King himself achieves.

There are, of course, some people today who consider that such thought has no place in a parliamentary address; that it should consist, on the contrary, of plain facts plainly stated — or, better still, pungently stated — with no idealism, no recognition of the higher aspirations of mankind. The world would be the poorer if political leaders were to be subject to such a limitation. Certainly Mr. King is not. In his speech in parliament on Tuesday of this week he exhibited once more those fine qualities of mind and heart which have so often found expression in his addresses.

Great truths were nobly expressed by the premier when he dealt with the dependence of the dictators upon material power to achieve their ends. He said:

"Material power alone, however, is not an enduring power. Strip domination of its material trappings and there is nothing left. Freedom, truth and justice belong to a different realm. They are not material things capable of being consumed and destroyed; they are of the mind and of the spirit, they belong to the eternal realities. They are attributes of God Himself. In the end they are certain to triumph. . . . Domination by a single dictator or group of dictators may last for a time. It may extend its sway and its sweep, but it cannot endure. Freedom, truth and justice crushed to earth will rise again. It is the breath of God which alone gives life to the bodies of men. Freedom, truth and justice, these will endure; for not only do they give life but they continue to give it more abundantly."

Nearly all the great speakers of Canada have drawn upon the wisdom and imagery of the Bible in their finest addresses. Mr. King did so on Tuesday. To win in the present conflict, he said, it is necessary to "put on the whole armor of God." And then:

"Let it never be forgotten that 'we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.' Let us make sure that the helmet is also one of salvation; the sword, one of the spirit; and the shield, one of faith; that our joints are girded about with truth and that our breast-plate is one of righteousness, and that our feet are shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace."

To slay the dragon of Nazi Germany is, said Mr. King, the first duty. But he concluded with the following paragraph, characteristic of one whose interest has always been in the common people:

"In equal measure however, we must strive throughout the struggle itself, and more than ever when the evil dragon of Nazism is slain, to see that never again, in our own or in any other land, shall the gods of material power, of worldly possessions and of special privilege be permitted to exercise their sway. Never again must we allow any man or any group of men to subjugate by fear and to crush by the power of might the spirit and the lives of honest and humble men."

Thoughts such as these, the thoughts of one who has been consistently humanitarian in his outlook during his long public life become, in their nobility of expression, part of Canada's rich heritage of parliamentary eloquence.

AS A PRODUCER OF BUNK

PREMIER IS FACILE PRINCEPS

(The Toronto Telegram)

From the local Liberal organ we hear without surprise that "among all Premier King's contemporaries there is not one who, in a set speech, rises to such heights of noble thought, nobly expressed, as Mr. King himself achieves." Rather nauseating it seems to us.

The organ seeks to establish its point by quoting sections from Mr. King's latest speech which prove nothing but that the premier has access to the Bible, Shakespeare, the speeches of Abe Lincoln, and Bartlett's book, "Familiar Quotations." To get Mr. King's own noble thought, nobly expressed, it is necessary to look at the product of his own mind, such as, for instance, the set speech which he delivered at Kingston on August 7, 1935. He had charged that R. B. Bennett was a dictator following the example of Hitler and Mussolini. He had spoken of buildings being erected in Ottawa and Calgary to house the R.C.M.P., and then went on to say:

"Those are only two of the many buildings being built in Canada. There are drill halls, armories all over the country built at heavy cost. Why is that money being spent? It is to build up a great military force because all dictatorships demand force, and the last word in dictatorship is the cannon and what comes out of the cannon."

"As you think of the elections to come ask yourself that little question, 'Whither are we tending?' Think of what has happened and ask yourself if we are making of Canada a second Italy, a second Germany or a second Russia."

We don't imagine that Mr. King believed what he said on that occasion. It was palpable bunk, and we give Canada's prime minister credit for sufficient shrewdness to know it was bunk.

We recall Mr. King's disingenuous excuse on the occasion when he called parliament only to dissolve it. He said that he had promised to "summon" parliament before there was an election and that he had done so. Yet his promise was not that parliament would be summoned before an election, but that there would be a session of parliament before that event.

We have observed, even in the speech which has moved the organ to adulation, the manner in which Mr. King twists records to give them a meaning they do not bear. He quoted the guiding principle laid down by the Imperial Conference of 1926 enunciating the "primary responsibility of each portion of the empire represented at the conference for its own local defence." This is not capable of more than one meaning, viz., that local defence is in the first place the responsibility of the local government. Yet Mr. King had no sooner read this guiding principle than he declared that it meant that "the first duty of each part of the empire was its own local defence." By twisting it in this way he sought to support the policy of his government that more effective co-operation with other parts of the empire must wait till Canada's defences were "secured," which is a repudiation of the obvious situation that the security of Canada's defences is best attained by effective co-operation with other parts of the empire.

Mr. King's rank as a shrewd politician must be admitted. But he does not fit in any niche in the temple of fame as an exponent of "noble thought, nobly expressed."

The Common Round

ELECTIONS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

We've heard so much about elections lately that I've been casting round in my mind for answers to these questions—"why do we vote?" and "what do we vote for?"

I can remember when elections, any election, meant nothing to me, save to wake a vague wonder as to why anyone should get excited over which man was at the head of affairs.

Had anyone asked me what I was, I'd have said "Conservative," and why not? My father was one, although not a wildly vocal one, and all the male relations favored that side of the political arena. But, why should I worry? As far as I could see, my small world revolved regularly and serenely, no matter whether the seats in high places were occupied by Conservatives or Liberals.

I think there existed, though, at that time, in my childish mind, an idea that to change your political affiliation was a sort of crime, to be punished by being sent to Coventry.

That "the party" was some sort of a mystical organization to belong to, which was a sort of sacred obligation and to desert which was an offence, something in the nature of breaking the marriage vow.

I suppose, as a young girl, if politics had meant anything to me, I'd have read more about what they meant to us as a nation, and to us as citizens—individuals. But it took the first world war to shake me from the placid unconscious of how the world wagged.

It was impressed on us women that one vote counted strongly. My father was dead. Mother said firmly, "I will NOT vote!" which settled her position, so, for the first time in my life, I had to open my political eyes and look about me.

And opening those eyes was a painful process; they had to get accustomed to the light, that is, the very weird light, thrown by reading a variety of papers and magazines.

Then, despairing of finding the kernel of the nut I was trying to crack, in the papers, I'd gaze raptly at the features of the candidates, who looked blankly and blandly back at me, with the peculiarly inane expression most people assume in front of a camera. One thing I found out then, and have stuck to ever since, I would NOT be a party politician. Now please, kind readers, don't laugh. I'm not a politician at all, but I DO believe women should vote, and I DON'T believe they should vote as their grandfathers or their fathers or their brothers or their husbands do. If women were meant to be echoes, why give them brains?

I remember talking to a woman, a good many years ago, just before an election, and the question of a certain issue at stake came up. I said, "I'm sure a great many women will vote who never voted before." "Oh, I don't know," said she, "I'll have to vote the way I've always done, or there will be no living in this house, so now, I don't bother anything about issues or platforms, or the merits of the various candidates, I just vote as I'm supposed to, and keep the peace."

I didn't say anything, far be it from me, to be a disturber of the peace, but I thought if everyone felt like that, we wouldn't have made much progress in the last hundred years. But there is one thing that vexes my soul, why, oh, why, must speakers at election time, say things about their opponents which must leave a sting for years. As I listened to speeches from supporters of each of the presidential candidates, I often wondered how much of what they said, they really believed; often it sounded as if they were saying inwardly, in spite of the wealth of invective they were bringing to bear, "my cause, maybe, my candidate, yes!"

And, it was the same in our own election recently. The real things, the things that counted, the things we, the people, wanted to "learn, mark, and inwardly digest," were not, supposedly, the points at issue. It seemed far more like destructive criticism, than constructive building of a program.

If I ever hear of a political leader, who, leaving his opponent severely alone, gives a listening public an exact statement of what he proposes to TRY to do, and, if it seems a sane, orderly and far-seeing program, then think of the joy of being able to cast your vote for that speaker.

No more going away from a polling booth when a big election is on, and wondering if you have done the right thing. No more watching to see how near fulfillment comes to promise, for there weren't too many promises.

The path of such a statesman must needs be upward. Everyone makes mistakes, but the general trend would be the building up of good things and the tearing down of evil. I heard a woman say, "what's the use of voting anyway?" I felt like saying, "no use, unless you think," for I really believe blind voters can obstruct progress, just as truly as thinking voters can help it on.

We get muddled, and we wonder, and make mistakes, and get mad, and cross, because we can't find anyone perfect to vote for, but, "all hail," say I, "to the memory of the women who won the franchise for us," and maybe in time we will become such competent readers of character, that leaders will stand in awe of us, and do what we tell them, and even defer to us—maybe!

THE CHUMS COLD-SHOULDER A BLUE JAY

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Great snakes!" Handsome, the Blue Jay, announced to the world in general, as he surveyed the landscape from a high branch in an elm tree, "that certainly was a real snow we had last night. Everything looks very different this morning than it did yesterday morning."

"I suppose you'll be leaving us now that we have had a really heavy snow like this?" Young Chums, the Chickadee, called up to him hopefully.

"Ho, ho, I can read you like a book, you just want to get rid of me," Handsome screamed at him good-naturedly. "But a little winter weather like this can't scare me so easily. I am seriously thinking of spending Christmas with you."

"Oh, surely you wouldn't want to spoil our Christmas," Nutty Nuthatch chirped up. "If you weren't such a mischievous fellow it wouldn't be so bad, but we never know when you are going to play a trick on us."

"Nonsense, I am just as apt to do you a good turn," said Handsome. "You know I've told you often enough when someone dangerous was hovering around. I want to tell you. And I don't believe in keeping information to myself. I simply have to tell everyone if I know anything."

"It's not often that you know much," scoffed Woody Woodpecker rudely. "What in the world are you looking around so much for?"

"I was keeping a look-out for winter birds," explained Handsome. "We're apt to see almost any of them on a day like this, Evening or Pine Grosbeaks, Purple Finches, Crossbills, or maybe Snow Buntings."

"Mercy me, there's a Robin wells by electricity, and the new pump is now at work."

It is expected that the new post office in Aurora will be opened next week.

BORN — In East Gwillimbury, Nov. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Arthur Lawson, a daughter.

DIED — In Aurora, Nov. 12, Horace D. Lundy, in his 89th year.

down there in the grass with that flock of Juncos," said Young Chips suddenly. "I just noticed him. Hello, Robin," he called. "Did you miss your train south? You'd better get going pretty soon, hadn't you?"

"Yes, I certainly had," answered the Robin with a shiver. "I don't like this snow a little bit. I can never understand why you folks are always so cheerful in snowy weather. I hate it."

"Ha, ha, it peps us up, all right, but it also makes a bird hungry, and I certainly hope that those feeding stations get put up soon—and plenty of them, too," Nutty Nuthatch said. "And we don't want you chiselling in on all the food, provided we do get some given to us," he called up to the Blue Jay.

"Why, I wouldn't dream of eating at the same table as you little birds," replied Handsome, with a haughty flutter of his beautiful blue and white feathers and a toss of his majestic crest.

"You mean that if you could you would get there first and gobble everything up—we know you," the Chickadee scolded.

"I certainly do seem to be unpopular this morning," said the Jay, finally. "I might just as well take a little fly and see if I can't find some more friendly people. Good-bye. I'll be back."

"It really is too annoying to have a lot of Blue Jays about in this colder weather," Nutty said to Young Chips. "When our winter bird friends come they will be quarrelsome and want a lot of the same berries and things that the others want, and then there will be all kinds of bickering and disturbance. And they eat a lot, too."

"Yes, but for that matter, our friends, the Robins, if there are any of them around, are inclined to chase our other friends away from the berries, too," Nutty reminded him. "If they're going to migrate, they might as well get going, and not linger on here and interfere with the real winter birds. Goodness knows they must have enough good times down south, without spoiling our fun up north."

"I hope we have a nice crowd of birds come here to spend the winter," Woody Woodpecker remarked as he joined the other two on a big branch.

"I heard a rumor that a flock of Pine Siskins was in town yesterday," Young Chips said to his friends. "They are the little fellows, about my size, with the streaky olive-brown and whitish suits, touched with yellow, and with little yellow spots on their wings."

"Aren't they the ones that act so much like our friends, the Goldfinches?" Woody asked.

"Yes, that's right," said Young Chips. "We must keep a sharp look-out for them and get them to join us, for a while at least—the more the merrier. I always think. I'm just going to dash over to the evergreens near Huron and Second Sts. to see if they might happen to be there. They love evergreen berries."

"I'm so glad to have met you"

In Memoriam

Baile—In loving memory of a dear father, Ernest Baile, who died Nov. 23, 1935.

Five years have passed, dear father, Since you were called away; How well we remember That sad and weary day; You suffered much, you murmured not, We watched you day by day; We cried and prayed that your dear life Would not be taken away.

Ever remembered by Ted, Frank and Marjorie.

Haffie—In memory of Wm. Haffie, who passed from this life on Nov. 16, 1935.

Thoughts of father bring joy and then sorrows, Since he has crossed over the tide; Though life's efforts not always successful, I've a memory of "him as he tried."

Sadly missed by daughter, Dora, of Sudbury.

Graves—In loving memory of a dear daughter and mother, who passed away on Nov. 18, 1937.

Three years have passed and gone, Since one we loved so well, Was taken from her home on earth, With Jesus Christ to dwell.

The flowers we place upon her grave May wither and decay, But the love for her who sleeps beneath, Shall never fade away.

Sadly missed by Father, Delbert and Frances.

Rallton—In loving memory of our father, Theo. J. Rallton, who passed away Nov. 24, 1939.

The rolling stream of life rolls on, But still the vacant chair Reminds the love, the voice, the smile, Of the one who once sat there.

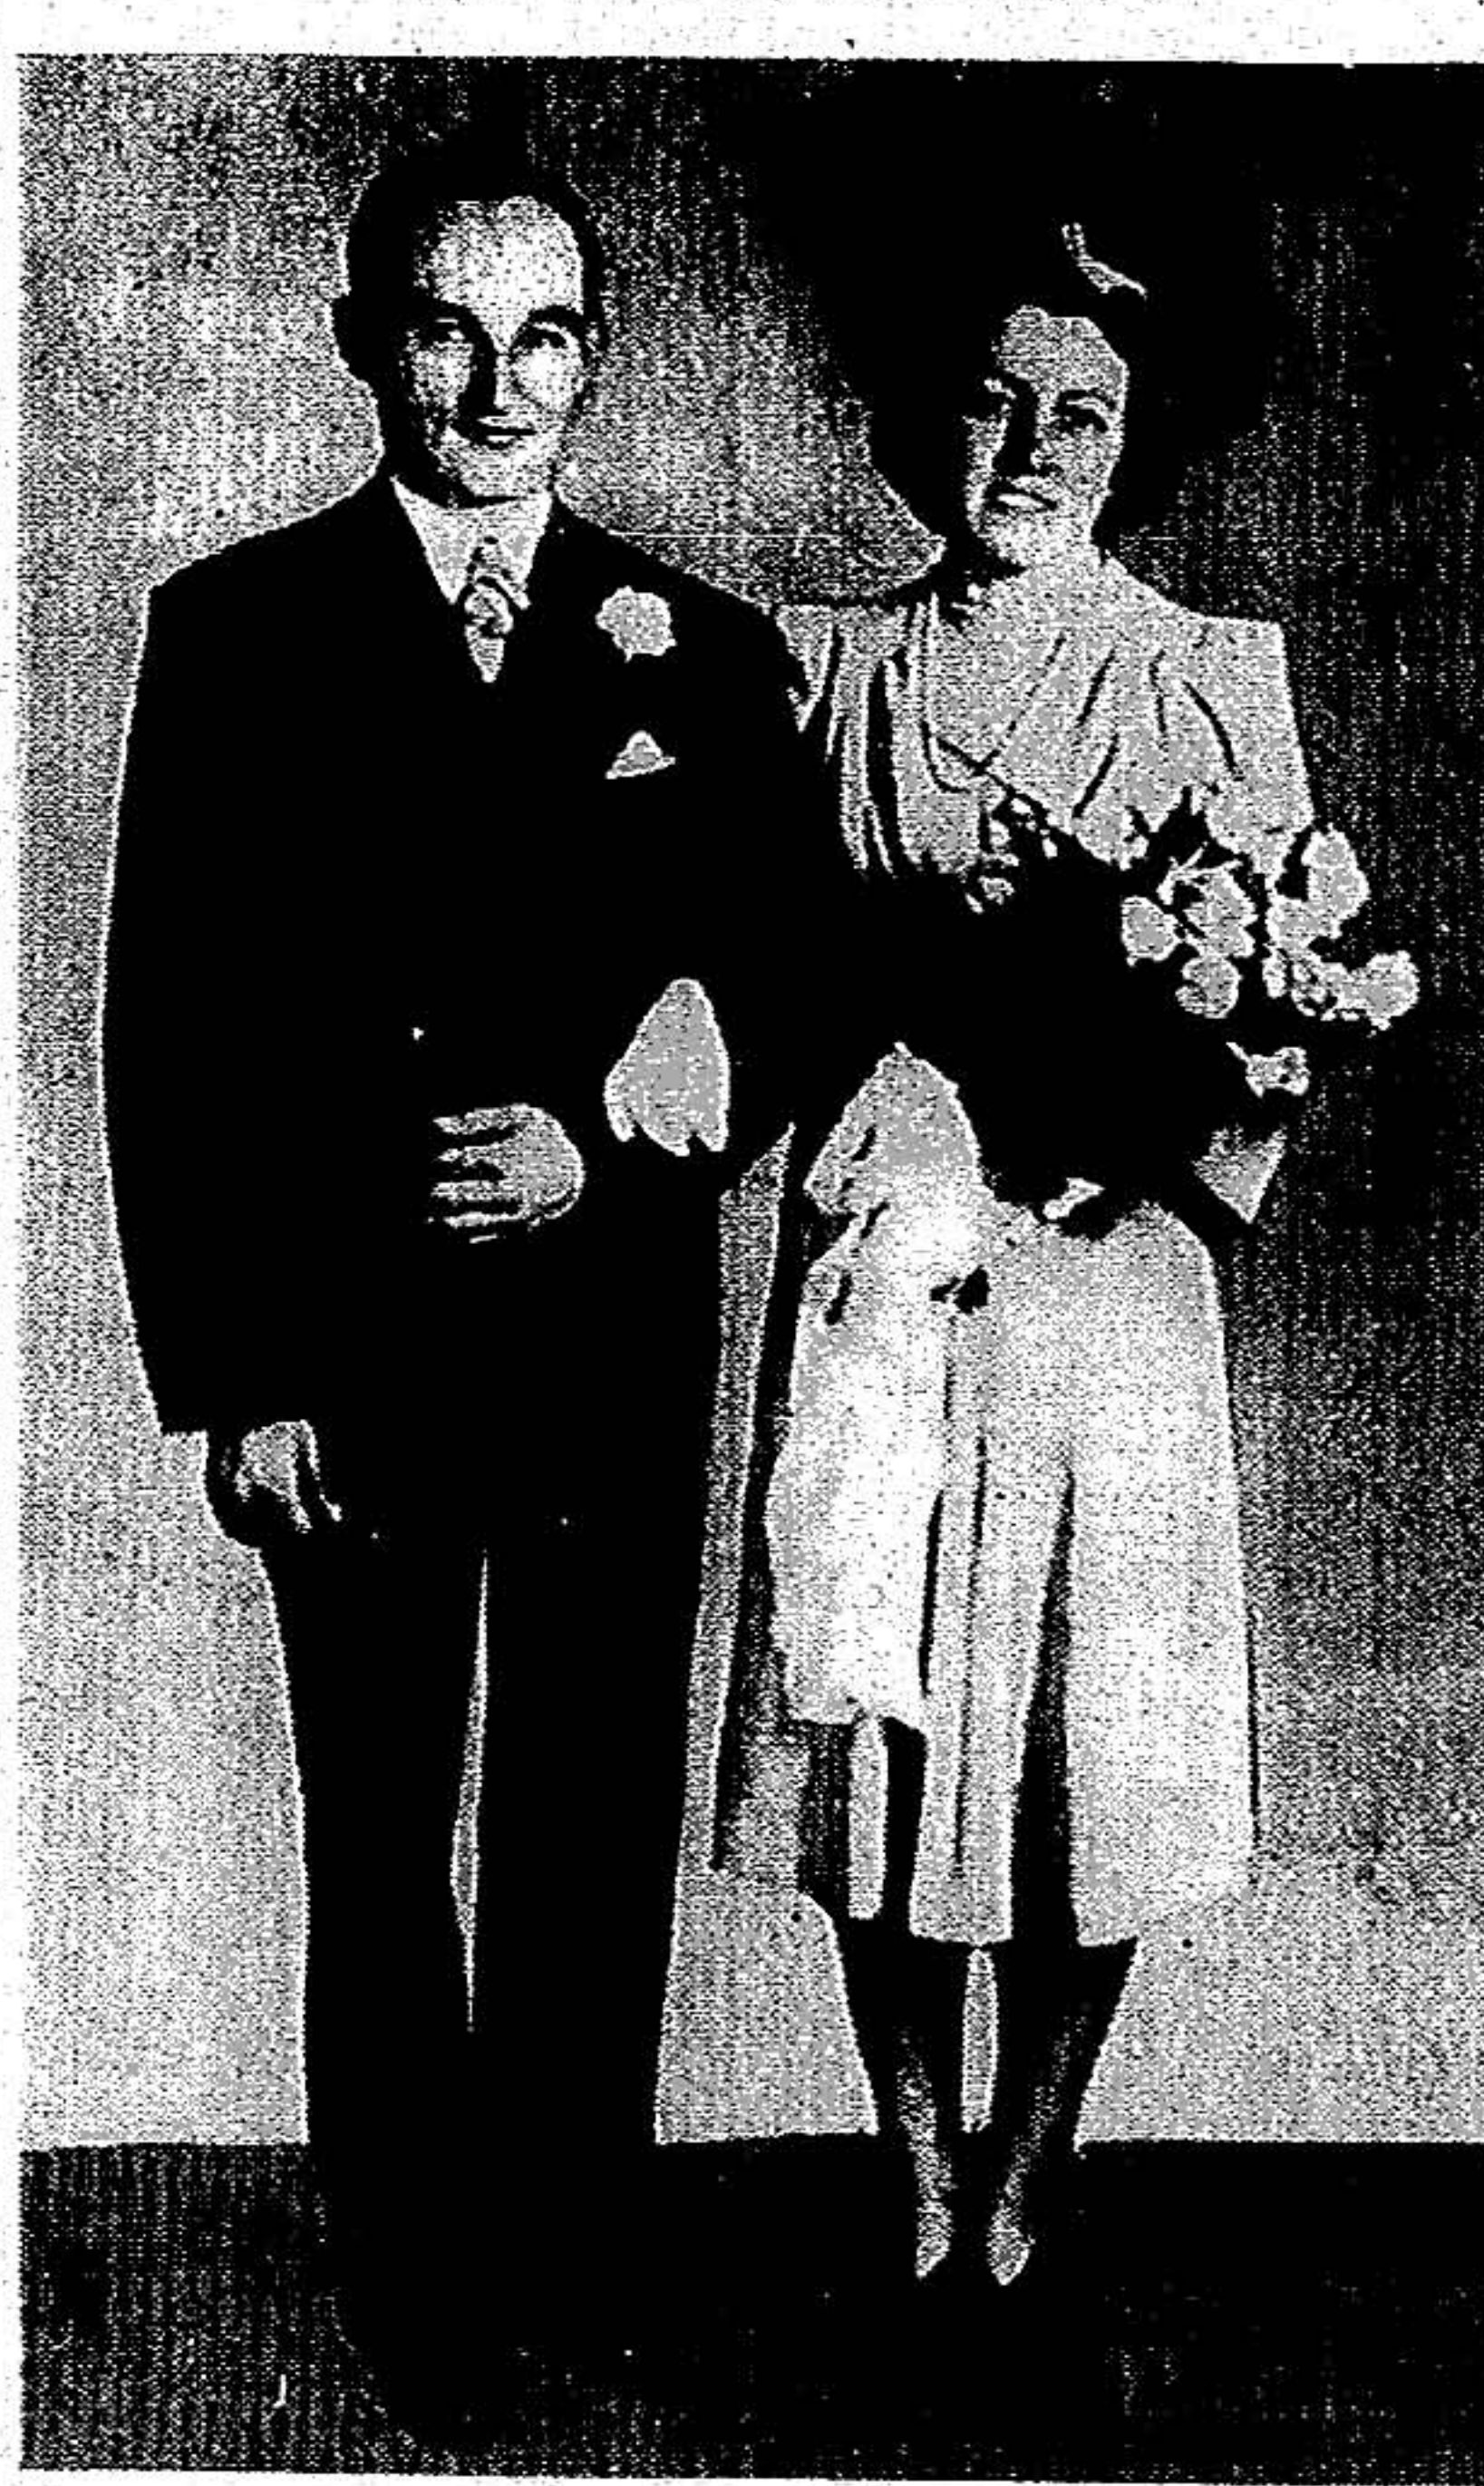

Sadly missed by son and daughters.

SCOUTS PLAN CAMP AGAIN NEXT SUMMER

A successful year of scouting was brought to a conclusion, and a new year started, with the annual meeting of the Newmarket Boy Scouts' Association in the council chamber last Thursday evening.

President Robert Martin was in the chair. Particular tribute was paid by Mr. Martin to the energetic work of the secretary, W. A. Spear. Mr. Spear reported, on behalf of the treasurer, W. H. Eves, that there was a balance of $132.34 on hand. This included Apple Day receipts.

Giving his own report as secretary, Mr. Spear said that 95 persons had joined the association. He recalled a successful father and son banquet held by the 2nd Newmarket troop, attended by 165 persons, and a successful skating carnival put on through the courtesy of J. L. Spillite, operator of the Newmarket arena.

Scouts and Cubs collected $35 worth of canned goods from customers of Newmarket stores, which went to the Red Cross for British war relief. Mr. Spear reported. There have been two or three paper collections by the Scouts and Cubs.

Mr. Spear reported that 50 Scouts and Cubs had attended the successful summer camp. The $3 fee collected from each boy covered only a part of the cost. It is planned to hold a similar camp next year.

Officers were re-elected as follows: Patron, Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd; honorary president, Aubrey Davis; honorary vice-president, Gordon L. Manning;

KING COUNCIL MAY GET "DOUBLE-DIP" IF

COUNCIL ASPIRANTS DON'T APPEAR SOON

With nominations being held tomorrow in King township, it would appear that the present council will receive an acclamation. No one has definitely announced that he will oppose the reeve and councillors when nominations are called for at Kettleby by Township Clerk Harold Ross.

In some quarters it has been suggested that four former members of council, namely J. P. Jefferson, Norman MacMurchy, Cornelius McCabe and Cameron Wellington, might run. The names of Cyril Benson of Temperanceville and Harold Pringle of Kettleby have also been mentioned. However, general feeling among the voters interviewed by The Era indicates a tame nomination.

Whether or not a vote on the two-year term will be taken depends upon whether or not there is an election. The township

Locals Put Out Of S.P.A. In Opener With U.T.S., 2-1

Aurora juniors playing in C company, with a new coach and a roster of players, many of whom have had very little experience, bowed out of the S.P.A. picture in their first game of the season at Maple Leaf gardens on Tuesday night by a 2-1 score to University of Toronto Schools, in 10 minutes of overtime.

The Aurora team were taking the ice for the first time this season, while their opponents were in the pink of physical condition from a rugby season and, with two or three ice practices under their belts, were able to gather the winning punch as the fagged Aurora players wilted on end. Thirty-five seconds spelled the difference between victory and defeat, for Aurora garnered a goal from the stick of Jack Curtis early in the final period and hung on until the 10:25 mark, when a wild shot from a scramble in front of the nets found the corner to knot the count. It was a heartbreaker for the local boys, who had played good hockey after a scramble first period.

In the overtime, Harry Pearce let Ball get away from him and a weary Curly Alexander just missed him as the U.T.S. star sifted one to the upper left-hand corner in the overtime to beat Grosskurth, with a well-placed shot. Pearce and Curtis almost got the equalizer on two occasions, but Murray was like a stone-wall in the Toronto nets. An orchid, a fanfare and all the superlatives in the book are due Teddy Grosskurth, who turned in a performance in the net that kept the Aurora lads in the fight all the way. Grosskurth stopped the proverbial million and was the best man on the ice.

U.T.S. had a decided edge in the first period, as Coach Sweeney experimented with various combinations. In the second period Aurora had an edge and Norm Mabley blew two chances to put the locals in front with only Murray to beat. Del. Beaumont also missed a sure pop effort with over-anxiousness. Both teams put on the pressure in the third and finally Jack Curtis, who was a constant threat both ways, picked up a pass from Grant Cook and got what looked like the winning tally. Several other Aurora sorties just about got results.

The Toronto team kept up a continual barrage the last three minutes and Grosskurth stopped two in a row and then left his goal to smother another which was hooked to one side. The defence, coming to his rescue, prevented him from backing into his cage, with the result that he had no chance on the wild tying shot. In the overtime a long shot from the stick of Armstrong bounced crazily on the line, but was cleared in time by U.T.S.

So early in the season it is obviously unfair to say who was good or who was bad, but still, special credit must be paid some of the boys in addition to Grosskurth. Jack Curtis was swell, Mark Stewart handed out some hefty body checks and Curly Alexander skated himself into exhaustion. Up front, Harry Pearce, Frank Michaniuk and Del. Beaumont worked like trojans, and Bruce Stephens, Brown and Armstrong were also prominent.

The game was poorly handled by Referee Walsh. Stars for U.T.S. were Murray, Ball, D. Bark, Falconer and Matchett.

Aurora: goal, Grosskurth; defence, Beresford, Curtis, Stewart and Alexander; centre, Beaumont, Armstrong, Brockbank and Rawlings; wings, Stephens, Brown, Bilborough, Cook, Pearce, Michaniuk, Mabley, Stephenson and Taylor.

U.T.S.: goal, Murray; defence, Kitchen, Falconer, D. Bark and Huycke; centres, Ball, Huston, Lawlor; wings, G. Bark, McIntyre, Gordon, Brown, Bryson, Pugh, J. Ball.

WILL HEAR STORY OF FRANCE AND DUNKIRK

One of the most popular banquets of the year with York County Junior Farmers has been the one held in connection with the home plowing competition, when the results are announced and prizes awarded.

In the 20-odd years of this banquet's history, it is doubtful if a speaker has discussed a subject of greater interest to young and old than at the 1940 function, to be held in the Vellore Hall on Tuesday of next week, Nov. 26.

Agricultural Representative W. M. Cockburn has secured as speaker, Sgt. P. F. Nagel of the staff of the Newmarket training centre, who will give some of his own experiences in the retreat in France and the evacuation of Dunkirk. Sgt. Nagel, before his discharge from the imperial army following Dunkirk, had served 14 years with the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. Two days after arrival in Canada he donned the Canadian uniform.

The banquet is being provided by the Vellore Junior Institute and will be served at 7 o'clock, standard time.

AURORANS GET TRANSPORT JOBS IN TORONTO

Frank Cook, who for the past eight or nine years has been employed with the Mingay cartage company, has accepted a position with a transport company in Toronto.

Some weeks ago, Charles Powell, Centre St., an employee of the Fleury-Bissell Co., accepted a position with another transport company in Toronto, on the Montreal route.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Newmarket Redmen got off to a nice start on Monday as they downed an inexperienced Thorold team. Gunn on the defence, along with Dickson, the Sundridge lad, were the team's two best, with Hamilton and Jelley close behind. Tommy Meyers didn't look too good but will doubtless come to form soon. Stan Gibbons, former Aurora and Newmarket player, showed up in a Barrie sweater on Tuesday night and Barrie officials were well pleased with the lad. Spear, the new Colts' netminder, didn't look too good, but Red Jorgensen, last year with Kenora Thistles, and a member of the Fort Garry Horse at Camp Borden, was a real standout.

George Scott played for Etobicoke and the former Tiger defence-man went well. Cy Wentworth has Bowler, Gordon, Husband, Fox, and McDonald of last year's Kingsway team as a nucleus, and they had a good margin on the Colts, winning 6-1. Ted Gregory, who handled the Kingsway team, is now in Iceland with the C.A.S.F. George Walsh refereed the Aurora U.T.S. clash and handled a poor game. He is one official that we never saw before, but he doesn't look up to standard. His decisions, however, didn't affect the standing of either team, but did make the game ragged. The contrast was all the more noticeable when a real official like Ken Holmes showed up later.

Aurora Peps, resplendent in a new blue, yellow and red ensemble, didn't do too badly, in fact they were only seconds away from the game. The photographic jinx prevailed, as they had their pictures taken before the game with the usual result following. The sweaters and socks drew plenty of favorable comment. Speaking of sweaters, Etobicoke trotted out in maroon and black, and looked splendid. Charlie Sweeney, who handled the team, had a tough job to do, as he didn't know one player from another. Sweeney coached the team's last year and also played for the championship Donald and Mudge entry. Previous to that he coached over in Switzerland and played both senior and junior hockey under Ace Bailey at Varsity. The boys liked him and he will be able to show something after he has had the team on the ice. Aurora boys will be given every opportunity to show their wares soon as the practices start, but for S.P.A. it was hard to sort out the various candidates from the 40 or more boys who want to play, and we feel sure, several boys who will make the team were left on the sidelines. Experiments in the forward lines will show the wealth of talent on hand will soon have three or four lines clicking. A shortage of Al defence-men appears an immediate problem.

Tuesday night the Aurora boys and their friends will trip the light fantastic at Roy Middlebrook's, with a series of lucky prizes to be awarded to the fortunate ticket holders. Ted Grosskurth, last year with Bolton, turned in the best goal-tending performance we have seen in a long time, and he drew rounds of applause. The locals have a host of goal candidates available, including another experienced cage minder, and Patton, last year with Richmond Hill, Ken, House of Maple, Wyatt Saigle and Eric Bunn.

Richmond Hill Tennis club has run into the same sort of difficulty that we understand prevailed in Newmarket. They couldn't get the high school for their dance, although they are a fine bunch of boys and all grads of the school. There is no other suitable place in the Hill, so they had to move to Thornhill. Local organizations, including sporting clubs, have always been able to get co-operation from Principal J. H. Knowles and board chairman, Dr. Williams, here, and the high school is made available frequently. There has been little, if any damage done, no fires, and so we feel those in charge of the high school should be given a hand for the commonsense attitude in dealing with what is, after all, public property.

Wilson Beresford, a candidate for the Aurora defence, is also president of the Hill netters. John McComb will come to Toronto on Saturday with St. Catharines juniors. It didn't seem quite right, at the Gardens on Tuesday, without the flashy and effective Joiner in an Aurora uniform.

Ellis Pringle, erstwhile Newmarket junior star, pro player and Aurora Tigers coach, has leased Sutton arena for the season and it is expected will take over the coaching duties of the Kaiser-Sibbald Greenshirts. There is a possibility, too, that Ellis may play, as he gets his amateur card back this season, which would be a big help to the Lake Simcoe boys, who are away overdue for an intermediate title. This year's line-up is said to be much the same, except that Bill Burkholder, who was with the Falls last season in senior, is expected back in the fold. If Bill and Pringle join the veteran, Shupe, it will be just about the biggest defence threesome in captivity.

Markham Juniors, who make their debut against Upper Canada College in the S.P.A. on Saturday, have quite a few of last year's group champions on the line again. The Harper, the Stouffville husky, is back again, as are Bob and Nick Bangay, Austin Baker and his brother, Lawrie, and Dusto.

Lonnie Harper, a cousin of Ike's, who has played for Northern Vocational and Marlborough, has been working out between the pines, and will likely replace Chad (who, by the way, is being called Chad both by Oshawa and Toronto sports columnists), although he may just end up some place else. Roadway of Stouffville, three Glenora boys and the pick of Scarboro township, will give Manager Eric Lawrie a nice bunch of boys to work with on the village duckpond (rink to you).

Jack Curtis, Tiger star, played with Marlborough against his old teammate, Jim Lowe, in Brantford last week. White Curtis definitely has the stuff for a hockey, he has not yet signed with the duties.

Oshawa Generals have drafted George Hewson, "The Angel," Fritz Fraser, and Wally "Snowball" Wilson from the B team, which played against Aurora, Hewson, however, is the only one likely to stick. White, who played here with St. Mike's Buzzers, is also with the dominion champions. Schach of Markham is, of course, battling it out with Bill Hainsworth of Waterloo.

Sneer disputes have broken out in the secondary school loop, comprised of Markham, Agincourt and Stouffville. It seems Reece Weldon of Stouffville donated a trophy and a league was formed without rules. Markham finished the schedule unbeaten and claims the cup, but the rest of the teams now claim there was to be a play-off of some sort. Too bad Aurora can't get in and win the cup to settle all arguments.

Midland is apparently going to be lucky to field a junior C team. Several players are in the air force, Pat Swales and Todd are at Falconbridge, and there isn't a great deal left if we're to believe it all.

RECEPTION HELD IN HONOR OF BRIDE

On Saturday, Mrs. T. A. Hamer, Wellington St., received in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Keith L. Hamer (nee Dorothy Chapman), of Toronto.

Receiving with Mrs. Hamer and the bride, who wore her wedding gown of rose white satin, applied with bow knots, was the bride's mother, Mrs. W. Chapman of Toronto.

At the beautifully decorated tea tables, Mrs. Charles Meek of Toronto and Mrs. Lorne C. Lee presided, the assistants being Miss Lavilla Hamer, Mrs. E. V. Underhill, Mrs. Morley Patterson of Toronto, Mrs. J. Hooten, Mrs. Delroy Babcock and Mrs. N. Coulson Malloy of Toronto. Many guests from out-of-town attended the function.

ASK FOR MAGAZINES FOR CANADIAN SAILORS

Canada's sailors must have reading material and the Aurora Red Cross is now asking the public to contribute magazines of a "readable nature." Western, detective, mystery, adventure, athletic, and popular magazines are suggested. These may be left at the post office or will be called for by telephone by the secretary, Mrs. H. Aldrich.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES MEET

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held their regular monthly meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Rice, Fleury St.

HOSPITALIZATION IS LOWEST IN COUNTY

In a report just issued this week by Dr. Hugh M. Cooke, hospitalization commissioner for York county, of all the 26 municipalities in the county, for a period of nine months, Aurora is in the proud position of leading the van with the lowest total cost in the county.

County hospitalization amounted for Aurora to only $357.80. King township has reason also to be proud of its low figure of $863.15. The costs for the county as a whole are down, a fact attributed to careful supervision and a substantial decrease in relief rolls.

Briefly, there may be three explanations to Aurora's low cost, the care and administration shown by public officials, the fact that Aurora citizens as a whole are financially responsible and loath to become public charges, the healthy climate and high altitude, plus good water.

SCOUTS RECEIVE OFFICIAL CHARTER

Aurora Boy Scouts formally became the 1st Aurora Boy Scout troop, North York division, last evening, in the Aurora high school auditorium, when Group Chairman C. C. Macdonald received the official charter from Commissioner Clarke Locke and the troop members exchanged their purple lion scout scarves for the red and white Boy Scout scarves.

Graced by the presence of Commissioner Locke, Field Secretary Edgar Jones, Lone Scout Commissioner F. A. Willett, Mayor J. M. Walton, Morgan Baker, M.L.A., members of the council and school board and a host of parents and friends, the Scouts received a big hand as they received their honors and went through their exhibitions of skill.

WILL HOLD ANNIVERSARY SERVICES ON DEC. 1

SERVE PANCAKES AFTER SOCCER GAME

Through the courtesy of the Aurora General store and the Quaker Oats company, who donated everything free, pancakes and maple syrup were served to the hungry fans following the high school football game last Friday, and the proceeds, amounting to over $7, were donated to the Red Cross. The stunt was a popular one and the girls of the school assisted in serving the pancakes.

HEAR TRAVELOGUE ON CHANNEL ISLANDS

The In-as-Much club held their November meeting at the home of Miss Jean Powell, Harrison Ave., on Monday evening.

Mrs. George Young of Newmarket gave a travelogue on "The Channel Islands," a subject which those present found most interesting, especially so, since these islands have been evacuated by the residents and in some cases are now held by the Nazis.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Buckindale sisters and Mrs. Roy Morley of Vancor, soloist.

In the absence of the president, Miss Mary Teasdale, Mrs. Fred Canfield presided.

A.Y.P.A. PLANS TO PLAY BADMINTON

Plans were laid for a Bible study class to meet weekly, the first meeting of which will be held on Sunday evening after the regular service, with the rector, Rev. R. Keith Perdue, in charge.

The association has formed a badminton section and has sublet Mechanics' hall from the Aurora badminton club and will play each Tuesday night. Bob Benville will act as instructor for the group.

AGED RESIDENT IS IMPROVED

Walter Macchell, who has been ill, is somewhat improved this week. Mr. Macchell, who will be 90 years of age on Dec. 31, is believed to be the oldest living resident of Aurora who was born here.

The prize-winners in the essay competition conducted by York county council were announced today as follows: 1st prize, Dorothy Ehnes, Weston Collegiate; 2nd prize, Arthur Guoch, Earl Haig Collegiate Institute, Willowdale; 3rd prize, Mary Bales, Earl Haig Collegiate Institute, Willowdale.

The judges of the essays were Dr. E. A. Hardy, Caradog Rhydwyn and Andrew Hebb.

Estate Of H. W. Fleury Is Almost Half A Million

The probated value of the estate of ex-Mayor Herbert W. Fleury, Aurora manufacturer, who died last month, was $420,702.89.

The estate is made up of $3,186.80 of personal effects, book debts and promissory notes total $67,554.45, life insurance is $20,000, stocks and bonds, $201,737.75, securities, $90,488.25, cash on hand, cash in banks, $14,910.28, miscellaneous is valued at $20,000.96.

His daughter, Miss Marguerite Fleury, resident in France, who last visited Aurora in 1939, is bequeathed an income of $5,000 per year, a house here, house furnishings and other personal effects.

William E. Fleury and Elinor M. Fleury, a niece and nephew, are left certain stocks and bonds. Mrs. Blanche E. Macdonnell, housekeeper, is to receive the income on $20,000. Certain other friends and employees receive cheques of varying amounts.

On the death of Miss Marguerite Fleury, $80,000 is to be divided equally among several nieces and nephews, and one-half of the residue goes to his brother, William J. Fleury, while the other half goes to the persons entitled under the Devolutions of Estates Act "as if I had died intestate."

Always noted for his charity, in death Mr. Fleury made notable charitable bequests. The Royal Ontario Museum receives his French Inland secretary, a notable piece of antique furniture. The Salvation Army social service department, Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives and York county hospital each receive $1,000. The Aurora war memorial association, of which the deceased was chairman, also receives a like amount. Requests of $500 go to the Hospital for Sick Children, the Home for Incurables, Toronto, the Orange True Blue and Orange Home, Elgin Mills, and the Aurora cemetery company.

Executors named are his brother, William J. Fleury, Harold L. Steele, and the National Trust company. Solicitors for the executors are McMaster, Montgomery and Fleury of Toronto.

Mr. And Mrs. James Gould Mark Diamond Wedding

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. James Gould are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary at their Tyler St. residence. Last year the couple quietly celebrated their 59th anniversary and in an interview with The Era at that time Mr. Gould hinted that when the time came for the diamond wedding anniversary it would call for "something special" and so this venerable couple will be at home to their many friends on Saturday.

Celebrating with them will be most of their 42 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, and nine of their 11 children. All will be present except Harold, who resides in the Peace River district and Mabel (Mrs. O. Yake) of Mather, Man. Present will be Oscar, Fred, William, John and Robert, and Mrs. Albert Foster, Mrs. R. Major, Mrs. J. Myers and Mrs. Rae and most of their families.

On Sunday the couple expect to attend service at Aurora Baptist church, where they are faithful attendants. Mr. Gould is now 85 and Mrs. Gould is 77. There has been little change in their routine of life since last year and both are in fairly good health. Mr. Gould still being a familiar figure in the shopping and business sections of the town, whence he comes daily for his paper, mail and groceries.

"God has spared us for another year and it is a real occasion for which we are truly thankful," he told The Era. "We are looking forward to a family reunion and seeing many old friends."

It is ten years since a formal reunion has been held of the family. Last year Mr. Gould was optimistic as to the war's outcome. Since then France has capitulated and England has been heavily bombed, but events of the year have not shaken his confidence.

"They've given us their worst and we've stood it, it'll be our turn soon and I don't think they'll stand up," he said.

Many friends are planning to be present on Saturday to extend best wishes to this happy couple.

WILL HONOR CHAMPION PLOWMAN AT BANQUET

On the morning of Oct. 29, the people of York county were thrilled to hear the announcement in the news that Fred Timbers of Stouffville had won the championship at the First National Plowing Match at Davenport, Iowa, U.S.A. Fred, accompanied by Alex. Black of Guelph and Geo. Hostrawser of Malton, had won the responsible task of representing Ontario plowmen to compete against champions and runners-up from seven different states.

To show their appreciation of Fred's good work and the honor he has brought to the county, the agricultural committee of York county council, in co-operation with the three branch plowmen's associations, has completed plans for a complimentary banquet in honor of the champion plowman of America. The banquet will be held in the King Edward hotel ballroom, Toronto, at 7:30 D.S.T., on Thursday, Dec. 5, and the guest speaker will be J. A. Carroll, secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association and the famous international plowing match. Mr. Carroll and his treasurer, Clark Young, accompanied the plowmen to Iowa, and will have an interesting story of their experiences there.

2ND GAME BEARS ODD SIMILARITY TO FIRST

Aurora high school soccer team on Friday duplicated their effort of the previous week against Markham high school footballers, with a 2-0 score.

By coincidence, the games were played on the same day of the week, the score was the same and the same two players, Bill Thompson and A. Stephenson, scored the Aurora goals in the same order. The tallies, however, were counted in the last half this time and with less than five minutes to go, as Markham pressed hard, N. F. Johnson was referee.

POLICE COURT OTTAWA MAN SENT UP FOR TRIAL FOR FRAUD

Samuel Nesbitt, Ballantrae, re-appeared in Newmarket police court this week and told Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe that he had replaced the fence posts dividing his property from that of his sister, Mrs. Coppins, as he had been ordered to do last week.

Constable Robert Windsor told his worship that he had inspected the posts and that the anchor-post had not been put back in its original place. He also stated that the other posts were only partly put back — that they were just stuck in the ground.

"Your worship, will you let me speak?" asked Mr. Nesbitt.

"I allowed you your time to speak last week," the magistrate replied. "I am fining you $10 and costs or 15 days in jail."

George Nelson Robinson, Toronto, charged with speeding on No. 11 highway on Nov. 9, was fined $5 and costs or 5 days.

Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that he had been driving south and on approaching a curve at Holland Landing he saw a car driven by Mr. Robinson going north at a high speed.

"He was going so fast that the car skidded going around the curve," the officer stated. "Another car going south at the curve had to turn out of its course."

"How fast do you estimate the speed of Mr. Robinson's car?" Magistrate Woodliffe asked. "I would estimate that he was going over 50 miles an hour on approaching the curve," replied the officer.

"There is a skid mark of four feet over the white line at the curve," Mr. Robinson denied that he had been speeding and said that he had been going 45 miles an hour coming down the hill. "I was driving close to the white line and I put my brakes on at the curve," he stated. He acknowledged that the car was a heavy one and that the rear wheels may have skidded over the centre line at the curve. "I have been driving on this road over 11 years and know the road very well," he stated.

"I am satisfied that you were going too fast around the curve," said his worship.

A charge of trespassing on the property of Ernest Comer, East Gwillimbury, against Peter Teebou was dismissed. Magistrate Woodliffe told the complainant, Mr. Comer, that the charge was not one for the criminal court and should be taken to the civil court.

Questioned by Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., Mr. Comer stated that he owned a village lot on which were a house and blacksmith shop. He said that he had rented the shop to Mr. Teebou at $7 a month, and that since he had allowed the defendant to move in, he had built the house adjoining the shop for which he had not obtained any rent. He said that the defendant had not paid his rent for the shop since June. Mr. Comer stated he had given Mr. Teebou a month's notice to vacate.

In his defence Mr. Teebou stated that he had rented the house and shop for $7 a month and that he did not consider that he owed any rent, as Mr. Comer owed him $94.10 for work he did helping to build the house. He produced an itemized list of the work he had done for Mr. Comer and said that he had asked that it be settled.

"Why didn't you sue him for it?" asked the crown attorney, N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"What's he got?" asked the defendant.

"He's got a house and lot," commented the crown.

"It's got a mortgage on it," replied Mr. Teebou.

After a preliminary hearing, F. H. Armitage, Ottawa, was committed for trial on a charge of fraud, on the complaint of William L. Bosworth, Newmarket.

Mr. Bosworth, who at one time had a grocery and china business in Newmarket and is now retired, testified that the defendant had come to his house with a business proposition of forming a company at Renfrew to make socks and one at Meaford to make blankets for the soldiers.

He said that Mr. Armitage told him that he (Mr. Armitage) had been commissioned by the federal government to form the companies and that he had an option on a mill in Renfrew for $12,000.

"He said that it would take less than $18,000 to put it into shape," stated the witness. "I thought this was cheap. Mr. Armitage said that he had an order from the government for 18,000 blankets at 99 cents a pound, four pounds to the blanket, the wool to cost 45 cents a pound."

"Did he say when these blankets were to be delivered?" asked Crown Attorney C. R. Magone, Toronto, of the Ontario attorney-general's department.

"He said they were to be delivered on Dec. 1, 1940," the witness answered.

"He asked me to go on the board of directors," continued Mr. Bosworth. "He said that he had assurance from the government that they would keep us busy for the duration of the war and one year after."

Questioned as to the other members of the board of directors, Mr. Bosworth said that there were "seven, Captain L'Amour, Mr. MacNab, of the King Edward hotel, Mr. Menzies of Oakville, Mr. Knight, Meaford, another gentleman from Meaford, Mr. Armitage and myself."

"Was there anything said when this company was expected to be going?" asked Mr. Magone. "It was to be going in a very few weeks," the witness replied.

"Why did he come to you?" the crown asked. "I haven't been able to find out, I asked him once. I said that I must be on the suckers' list in Toronto. I gave him a cheque for $100 for ten shares of preferred stock and 300 common. He said that on all subscriptions he wouldn't take less than $1,000 and that $100 was to be put down."

Questioned by Mr. Magone, Mr. Bosworth said that he later gave the note for $900.

"He asked me if I knew anyone else to whom he could sell shares," continued the complainant. "I gave him the names of J. O. Little, W. H. Eves, Dr. S. J. Boyd and later told him of Mr. G. D. Wark of Orillia."

"What happened when you gave him the note?" asked the crown.

"Later he said that he had to pay some debts — wages at the Meaford woollen mills. He said that he had been disappointed in some of the men who had subscribed. He asked if I would give a note. It was to be given to the woollen mills. I told him that I had no money — that my wife was the patriotic member of the house. He said that Dr. I. J. Bogart, Kingston, would cash the note. I sat down and made out a note for I. J. Bogart for $900 due in two months."

Mr. Bosworth said that he did not fill in the interest on the note, as he did not know what Mr. Bogart would charge, and that when the latter wrote and suggested six per cent, he agreed to it. He stated that he had visited Meaford, and as a result of what he found there, he communicated with Mr. Bogart and asked that his note be sent back to him, but that he had not received it.

"Why did you hand over the cheque and note (to Mr. Armitage)?" asked the crown.

"Well, the principal reason was that it was a patriotic purpose," answered the witness.

"How was it patriotic?" "We all knew that the soldiers need blankets. I also thought that as I was going on the board, I would become acquainted with the woollen business." Mr. Bosworth said that his son was a member of the Queen's York Rangers and that he thought that there would be a future for him in the woollen mills later.

Cross-examined by Mr. Agar, Toronto, defence lawyer, the witness said that he was 56 years of age and that the extent of his education was public school. He stated that he had been a delivery boy for Mr. Smith, who had a grocery and crockery business on Main St., Newmarket, and that he had worked his way up in the business until he later became proprietor. He said that he retired in 1930, when his grocery business was failing and leased his building to the A and P Co.

"To what extent have you dealt in stocks?" asked Mr. Agar. "Since 1928," he answered.

"That was when we all went in," commented the crown attorney.

"Yes, and that is about the time that we all went out too," retorted the defence.

Questioned further by Mr. Agar, the complainant admitted having losses in other stock purchases before and that he had complained to the stockbrokers about them. He said that he had not visited Meaford when he gave the cheque and signed the note, but that when he did visit that town he became dissatisfied with his purchase. He further stated that when he visited Mr. Armitage in the hospital that the latter told him that he needed $9,000 more to finish up the mill, whereas when he first came to Mr. Bosworth's home he led him to believe that he had all but $3,500.

"What caused you to be dissatisfied when you visited Meaford?" asked the counsel for the defence. Mr. Bosworth replied that he had seen the lawyers there, who told him that the deal for the mill there had fallen through because of lack of payments.

Asked if it was true that he went into the deal because he wanted to do something patriotic for his country, the witness replied that was partly the reason. "That and the order from the government for 18,000 blankets," Mr. Bosworth estimated that this first order, amounting to $72,000 would cover expenses and make a profit.

The court adjourned for dinner, during which time the witness was asked to look over his files for copies of his correspondence with Mr. Bogart and Mr. Armitage. When court was again called to order, Mr. Bosworth produced the letters. Later John Neville, of the department of national defence, Ottawa, when called to the stand, stated that his file showed letters from Mr. Armitage but that there was no record of any contract being given to that person or the Meaford woollen mills.

Pleading guilty to a charge of stealing a hen from the chicken-coop of Ross Blakely, service station manager, Pefferlaw, William Greig, a neighbor, was fined $10 and costs or 20 days.

Constable Wm. Hill stated that from information he had received he questioned Mr. Greig; and that the latter at first denied taking the hen. The officer said that later he told him that he had been drunk and that Mrs. Harris, the woman for whom he was working, asked him to get her a hen for supper and that he took the hen from the Blakely hen-house. He told the police officer that "if there is any trouble, I'll pay for it."

"I work for Mrs. Harris," stated the defendant. "I went to Mr. Blakely's to get her a hen. I knocked on the door, but there was no one there. I went to the pen and got a hen. Mrs. Harris has a charge account with the Blakelys."

Mrs. Harris testified that she had sent Mr. Greig to Mrs. Blakely's to get a chicken and to charge it to her account. "I didn't want him to steal the chicken," she stated.

Mrs. Dorine Blakely testified that chickens had been missing on two occasions and that no mention had been made of paying for the chicken in question.

"You had no business taking the hen," said his worship. "Keep your hands off chickens in future or you will find yourself behind bars."

Because he failed to supply the full information asked for on a form sent out by the dominion bureau of statistics, W. W. Osborne, plumber, was fined $20 including costs. Mr. Osborne told the court last week that he was unable to supply the full information about his business in 1939 as he had not employed a bookkeeper.

POLICE COURT YEAR-OLD BREAK-IN CHARGES HEARD HERE

The case of Hugh Ross, grocery manager and postal clerk, and Clifford Rea, both of Ravenshoe, Delbert Crowder, Roche's Point, and Clarence Mapes, Bloomington, all jointly charged with attempting to break and enter the home of William Vandenberg on the night of Jan. 21, 1940, was adjourned for judgment until Nov. 26.

Mr. Vandenberg, who lives in a log house on the 7th concession of East Gwillimbury, stated that on the night in question, four men, whom he did not recognize, hurried lumps of ice and tin cans into his house, smashing windows and making holes in the roof. He stated that, when he had replaced the storm door which they had taken down, they removed it a second time. He told the court that one of the men broke the glass in his front door and tried to pry open the door with a fence rail.

On two or three occasions they made passes to hit him as he held the door closed and that he succeeded in ducking away.

Mrs. Fred Holden, niece and housekeeper of Mr. Vandenberg, said that her five children had gone to bed at the time and that she was afraid that her year-and-eleven-months-old baby would be hurt with the flying glass. She corroborated Mr. Vandenberg's story, saying that she had to move the lamp several times as the men, who were poking sticks through the window, tried to knock it over. She could not identify the men either.

Ross Parks, who lives across the street from the Vandenberg home, testified that three of the men, whom he identified as Hugh Ross, Clifford Rea and Delbert Crowder, called at his home for Clarence Mapes, who was staying with him. He stated that he heard one of the men say, "We are going to have fun," but could not swear that the four men who were at his house were the same men whom he later heard making a noise across the street.

Constables William Hill, Carl Morton and Joseph Jardine said that all but Mr. Ross, after first denying it admitted being in on "the fun" at Mr. Vandenberg's house on Jan. 21.

Defence Counsel Raxlen moved that the charge against Ross be dismissed for lack of evidence against him.

"There is the evidence of Mr. Parks that there were four men at his home, four men who were going to have some fun," stated the crown attorney, Mr. Mathews. "Mr. Parks said that one of these men was Ross."

"I think there is enough evidence to call for a trial," said his worship.

In his testimony Hugh Ross denied breaking into the home of Mr. Vandenberg or calling at Mr. Parks' place on Jan. 21. He also denied that Clifford Rea was in the vicinity at the time and said that he had brought the latter up from Toronto to work in his store the last part of March.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mathews, the defendant admitted taking Delbert Crowder to Lindsay after the latter had spoken to the police.

"Why did you take him to Lindsay?" asked the crown.

"I didn't want those stories going about that he was circulating," replied Mr. Ross.

"Is it true that you took him there to keep him quiet until after this case was over?" "Partly, yes."

Clifford Rea, whose father had been a Spanish consul for five years, denied telling the police that he visited the Vandenberg home on the night of Jan. 21. He said that he meant that he had been there one night by himself and "did some yelling."

Delbert Crowder told the court that he had been in "on the fun." He admitted hurling snow-balls and said that he saw Rea "jab at the door" with a stick. He stated that Ross had taken him to Lindsay, paid for his board there and gave him spending money and that all he was to do was to "keep quiet."

Clarence Mapes testified that Delbert Crowder had suggested that someone take him (Crowder) away until after the affair had quieted down.

"This is a very serious case," commented the magistrate.

"I agree with you, your worship," interrupted Mr. Mathews. "This is a secluded district. The men tried to break and enter a home in which were five children."

Mr. Raxlen stated to his worship that, if there is a conviction against Mr. Ross, the latter would lose his post office, as he was under bond to the government.

Cases adjourned until Nov. 26 were: Clifford Rea and Jack McClure, both charged with doing damage to property of William Vandenberg, charged with doing grievous bodily harm on Oct. 31 by using a shot-gun, the charge being laid by Constable Wm. Hill; Harry Vanstone, charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm by use of a cane on complaint of Clifford Rea.

1941 MOTOR VEHICLE PERMITS AND DRIVERS' LICENSES ARE NOW AVAILABLE

Secure Yours Early and Avoid the Usual Last Minute Rush

There has been no increase in the fees for permits and licenses. The fees charged in Ontario are still lower than in any other province of Canada or in the neighbouring states.

Table of comparison of fees in Ontario and two neighbouring provinces and states for three popular makes of passenger cars:

CAR	ONTARIO	QUEBEC	MANITOBA	NEW YORK	MICHIGAN
No. 1 — 4 cyl.	$ 2.00	$17.80	$14.00	$12.00	$ 8.40
No. 2 — 6 cyl.	7.00	22.00	16.50	15.00	10.50
No. 3 — 8 cyl.	10.00	21.30	16.50	14.50	10.15

Ontario's highway system is the largest in the Dominion, and for the very reasonable fees, indicated above, a great highway system comprising over 20,000 miles is maintained and made available to the motorists of Ontario and visitors from other parts of America.

The revenue collected from motorists by way of registration and license fees and the gasoline tax has made possible the construction and maintenance of this great system of highways.

For the convenience of motorists, permits and licenses are issued through the offices of 189 agents located throughout the Province.

HAVE you ever thought of your bank as a citizen, taxpayer, employer and consumer? Your bank strives to be a good citizen — to render a useful service for a moderate remuneration. AS A TAXPAYER, your bank pays heavy sums to your community, your province and the Dominion — Canada's chartered banks paid over $9,000,000 last year alone; $42,000,000 in the last five years. AS AN EMPLOYER your bank and other chartered banks in Canada furnish employment to thousands of persons who are an asset of real value to the Community and to the Dominion. The banks paid last year over $35,000,000 in wages — in the last five years, $174,000,000 — a direct distribution of buying power all over Canada. The value of the services rendered by our men and women workers cannot be appraised in dollars. Their efficiency, courtesy and integrity are largely responsible for the goodwill and pleasant relations between Canada's chartered banks and the people they serve. AS A CONSUMER the bank is a customer of your utilities — water, light, power; it pays rent, buys fuel, office equipment, telephone and telegraph services, everything needed in modern business.

In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services — safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business — looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.
